DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. There does not appear to be support for the new limitation requiring both the inner and outer walls to be disposed within the concave part. The specification seems to disclose portions 11b and 11c as the inner and outer walls. However, only 11b is in the concave part. Clarification is need.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hosokawa (6,367,811).

Hosokawa discloses a lip seal with a first reinforcing member 9 having a wall surface part defining a hole (inner diameter of 9) and a cylindrical part (see Fig. 8). The seal has a first sealing member 13 including an annular base (near 5a/b) joined to the housing 31. A first lip extends almost conical inwardly. An annular concave part formed (via portion 4, i.e. the shape of 2-4 forms a concave) on the base allows the cylindrical part of member 9 to be detachably fit. As best understood, Hosokawa discloses an inner and outer cylindrical wall (in as much as Applicant has provided support) within the concave. The end portion at 3, which forms part of the concave, is a caulked flange. When lifted (i.e. unfolded) the cylindrical part can be withdrawn in an axial direction.

5. Claims 1 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McCormick (3,362,719).

McCormick discloses a lip seal comprising a first member with a wall 54 and cylindrical portion 56 (with inner and outer walls as best understood), a first sealing member having a base 58 and lip 52 (or 46) extending conically inwardly. The base forms a concave (seen best in fig. 4) that allows the cylindrical portion to be withdrawn in an axial direction.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 2-10 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 5-7-07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Art Unit: 3673

Hosokawa is capable of being axially detached when portion 3 is folded upwardly.

McCormick, Nagasawa '153, and JP '377 also disclose at least claim.

The new limitations relating to the inner and outer cylindrical walls are not clear. Are these portions other than those defined by the specification (11b, 11c)? Wall 11c does not appear to be within the concave portion.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
